HOW DOES CRYPTO WORK?

The company or organization that wants to promote its products, it offers its Affiliate Program. Now any other person like a blog or website owner joins that program, then the company or organization gives him any banner or link etc. to promote their products on his blog or website. Now in the next step, that person puts that link or banner on his blog or website in different ways. Now many visitors come to that person's blog or website. When a visitor clicks on that link or banner and reaches the website of the company or organization offering the affiliate program and buys something or signs up for a service, then that company or organization commissions him in return.
